

Students who withdraw from a course within 7 calendar days from the official course start date are eligible for an 80 percent tuition refund. Registration and admission processing charges are non-refundable in all cases.

No refund is available after the 7-day refund window has passed. If a student drops a course after the deadline, the withdrawal may appear on the academic record according to institute rules.

Refund requests must be submitted through the student portal and approved by the academic office. Approved refunds are normally processed within 15 working days to the original payment method.
